

The Atlanta Koi Club
"Dedicated to Sharing the Joy of Keeping Koi"

2010 Koi Auction Caution

Two words about quarantine: DO IT!

The Atlanta Koi Club is a non-profit organization dedicated to assisting anyone with an interest in keeping koi. As an annual fundraiser, the club holds a koi auction. This outlet provides two functions:

1. Members can offer their personal koi for sale
2. Any interested party can purchase these koi and plants.

This is an open event, the public is invited to attend and bid on koi, purchase plants, equipment and supplies.

Due to the nature of raising koi, the Atlanta Koi Club can not be held responsible for any actions or events that may take place after this auction. Our members strive to provide healthy koi, but provide no guarantee as such. As a safety measure, the club highly recommends quarantining any koi purchased not only from this auction, but also from any dealer, retail establishment or other source. Quarantining and treating plants before they are entered into any pond system is also highly recommended.

The club will gladly provide assistance and knowledge in proper quarantining.

Once again, two words about quarantine: DO IT!
